HEREBY DECREES

Art. 1 – Number of research grants/positions available

A public competition for the assignment of n. 1 grant for the carrying out of research activities (hereinafter the “research grant”) at the University of Gastronomic Sciences.

Art. 2 – Progetto di ricerca

- Title of the research project: FUSILLI “Fostering the Urban food System Transformation through Innovative Living Labs Implementation”, funded by European Union – Horizon 2020. H2020-EU.3.2.2. – Sustainable and competitive agri-food sector for a safe and healthy diet (ID: 101000717)

- Description and objectives of the research project:

The FUSILLI project intends to overcome the obstacles currently present for the development and implementation of integrated and systemic food policies in order to allow the transition to sustainable food systems in urban, peri-urban, and rural areas. The main objective of the project is to build an urban food plan to achieve an integrated, holistic and safe transition towards healthy, sustainable, inclusive, fair, and cost-efficient food systems, through innovative replicable urban policies that lead to the implementation of improved actions in all stages of the food value chain in line with the four priorities of the FOOD 2030 policy (Nutrition for sustainable and healthy diets; Climate-smart and environmentally sustainable food systems; Circularity and resource efficiency of food systems; and Innovation and empowerment of communities). To achieve this, FUSILLI will network 12 European cities to address the challenges of food system transformation: San Sebastian (Spain), Nilufer-Bursa (Turkey), Oslo (Norway), Kolding (Denmark), Turin (Italy), Castelo Branco (Portugal), Differdange (Luxembourg), Rijeka (Croatia), Kharkiv (Ukraine), Tampere (Finland), Athens (Greece) and Rome (Italy). These cities will integrate food as part of their urban-rural agenda and will identify and create opportunities to transform food systems into sustainable, healthy, and inclusive systems. In this way, cities will have the opportunity to implement innovative and personalized policies and actions, placing citizens at the center of the process. Each city will create or implement Living Labs: Open Innovation Ecosystems in which concrete actions will be implemented to develop and introduce urban food systems policies that meet the four FOOD 2030 priorities. These Living Labs intend to implement several innovative actions across all stages of the food chain: production and processing, distribution and logistics, consumption, loss, and waste of food and governance. The Living Lab will involve various stakeholders representing all the players in the food system at the local level: it will have at least one public authority, and an industrial partner (SME or association), a consumer association, and one that deals with education. A Knowledge Community will describe current local initiatives to develop a catalog of good practices to be implemented and exchanged within the network of Living Labs participants, as well as other global initiatives.

The numbers of the FUSILLI project: 34 partners from 13 different countries, including municipalities, universities, SMEs, NGOs, and companies.
